

GENERAL CONDITIONS FOR ONLINE ORDERS

I. General

1. These general conditions shall apply to all sales of products and related service transactions ("the Goods") between Balluff DK and customers ("Buyer") on our website www.balluff.com/ balluff/MDK (the "Webshop"). Unless otherwise stated in these general conditions for online orders, all sales of products and services shall be done in accordance with: NL 92 General Conditions for the supply of machinery and other mechanical, electrical and electronic equipment. Issued in 1992 by the organizations for the engineering industries in Denmark, Finland, Norway and Sweden.
2. In the event of any inconsistency between these conditions and any other terms and conditions including (but not limited to) those in Buyers purchase order, these conditions shall prevail. Only with our written consent do we recognize any deviations from the general conditions stated herein. The application of any other terms & conditions of the Buyer whatsoever, either deviating or supplementing, shall not be binding for Balluff in any way.
3. The entire offering of Balluff is exclusively directed to business customers. Buyers shall be all natural or legal persons or partnerships having legal capacity who, with regard to purchasing activities, act in their capacity as commercial or self-employed persons or entities.

II. Conclusion of contract

1. The presentation of products on the Webshop is not a legally binding offer from us, but only a non-binding invitation for you to order products. By pressing the "order" button you make a legally binding offer to buy the ordered Goods. Balluff will then automatically send an acknowledgement of receipt via e-mail to the you, in which the order is listed. The automatic acknowledgement of receipt merely documents that Balluff has received your purchase order and does not constitute any acceptance of the order. A binding agreement shall only be formed upon Balluffs sub-mission of the declaration of acceptance (order confirmation), which shall be sent by a separate e-mail.
2. The technical steps of concluding the contract are as follows: the Webshop can be accessed by using the product selector or by directly entering a search term specific Goods. The Buyer can then, without obligations, add the Goods to the basket by pressing the „add to basket“ button. The contents of the basket can be viewed at any time by clicking the button „bas-ket“. Buyer can use the Recycle Bin icon to remove the selected items from the shopping cart. The Goods in the basket can be purchased by clicking the button „Checkout“, which will prompt a new page to open. The purchase process can be completed either as a registered customer or without registration. To register, you must provide Buyers email address and click the button „continue with customer registration“ button. Balluff then checks - possibly based on further information from you, if Buyer is not an existing customer with Balluff - Buyers authorization to use the Webshop, especially Buyers status as a legal business cfr. article I.1. A password that is associated with Buyers email address (your login), is created during the registration process; future orders requires no further registration as it will be sufficient to enter the chosen email address and password. In the next step you can change or confirm the billing address and shipping address. To this end, Balluff will display those addresses that you have entered during the registration process (for new customers) or that are stored in our ERP system (for existing customers). You also has the opportunity to verify all information and to correct them using the delete and change function. If you want to complete the purchase process without registration, click the button „Without Registration“. In the next step you can fill out Buyers information. As in the process for registered users, you will have the possibility of changing this information using the delete and change function. In the last step, you can select and adjust the mode of payment. The order is completed by clicking the „order“ button. Registered Buyers can access their order history by using the "my orders" button in the Webshop.

III. Information and password

1. Buyer is required to provide truthful and complete information when using the Webshop. If the information changes, especially Buyers name, address and email address, Buyer are obliged to inform us of these changes immediately by changing the information in the Webshop. If Buyer fails to update the information or if Buyer provides false or incomplete data, Balluff are entitled - if a binding agreement has been concluded - to rescind the contract. It is Buyers responsibility that the indicated email address is valid and can be used to communicate with Buyers from the date of the order.
2. A password is required to place an order. Buyer must use every effort to keep the password safe and should not disclose it to any third parties. If Buyer loses the password or suspects that the password might be known by a third party, Buyer is obliged to notify Balluff. Balluff will then suspend the account immediately after the notification. Buyer is responsible for any orders placed with the password up to the date of notifying Balluff thereof.

Additional conditions for software: In the event that we, as a part of our service or in connection with our service, provide software, the following additional conditions apply:

XVII. Right of use

1. We grant you a non-exclusive right of use to the software. The extent of proper use is stated in the datasheet and/or operating instructions associated with the software. Unless specifically agreed upon, the right of use is permanent.
2. You may only use the software with the hardware mentioned in the datasheet and/or operating instructions, and if such is not mentioned, only with the product supplied with the software. 3. If multiple devices are listed in the datasheet or operating instructions, you may only use the software on one of these devices simultaneously (single license), unless a multi-user license is specifically agreed upon. If the product is accessible from more than one workspace at a time, the single license cuts off use from more than one workspace at a time.
4. The software is supplied exclusively in machine-readable form.
5. You may only make one copy of the software, solely for backup purposes. Additional copies of the software may only be created if a multi-user license is agreed upon. All software data must be transferred unchanged when making a backup copy.

7. We give you a revocable right to transfer the right of use to a third party. Any transfer to a third party must, however, be made with the product you acquired in connection with the software. In the event that the right of use is transferred to a third party, it is your responsibility that the third party is not given a more extensive right of use, than the right of use you were given. The third party must as a minimum be subject to the same obligations related to the software that applies under these conditions. If the right of use is transferred you may not keep any copies of the software.
8. You are not authorized to grant sublicenses.
9. By transferring the right of use to a third party, you are responsible for meeting any performance requirement, and hereby freeing us from any obligations.
10. In the case we transfer software to which we only have a derived right of use, the conditions between us and our licensor shall apply prior to this section. In the case we transfer Open Source software, the conditions for the Open Source software shall apply prior to this section. The datasheet and/or operating instructions will refer to the existence and terms of use of any foreign software and Open Source software.

11. For use of the software on multiple devices or simultaneously on multiple work-stations, a multi-user license is required. The same applies for use through any in-ternal network. In addition to the conditions stated in XVII.1-10, the following ap-plies to multi-user licenses:
 - a) The prerequisite for a multi-user license is an explicit written confirmation from us of the number of copies that you may make of the software, and the number of devices and/or workplaces where the software may be used. In regards to XVII.7, a multi-user license is only valid if all the licenses given are transferred together with any devices on which the software has be used.
 - b) You must pay close attention to the instructions in regards to copying given with the multi-user license. You must record the location of all copies and submit them to us on demand.

XVIII. Transfer of risk

The risk of accidental loss and accidental deterioration of the software is trans-ferred to you when the software is digitally transmitted from us to you.

XIX. Software liability

1. You must take all necessary and reasonable measures to prevent and limit damages done by the software. This includes, but is not limited to, making backups of pro-grams and data regularly.
2. If this obligation is not observed, we can not be held liable for the resulting conse-quences, including replacement of lost or damaged data.

XX. Software defects

1. Unless otherwise stated in Danish law, our liability is limited to software defect which appear within a period of one year from the date of transfer of risk.

 - damages resulting from improper or careless treatment of the software,
 - damages resulting from external influences which are not provided under the con-tract
 - damages resulting from changes made to the software by you or a third party
 - damages resulting from changes made to make the software compatible with your IT environment.
4. All claims based on software defects will be fulfilled by delivery of an updated ver-sion, granted that such can be obtains with reasonable resources.
